

SUMMER CAMP AT HOME

Looking for a free summer experience that you can have at home or with your family while social distancing?

Cacapon Institute is offering Summer Camp at Home for elementary and middle school students. These simple guides walk you through how to use household items and some time in nature to explore easy science themes with a fun summer camp style.

Check out the link below to download your choice of guides which includes directions, background, a list of household items to use, and science connections. If you complete one of the guides and send in a photo on the form from the link below, you will be shipped a box of fun to continue nature exploration!

WANT MORE FUN?

Complete one of the activities listed on the Cacapon Institute website and submit a photo to receive a box with more materials and activities to continue the fun nature exploration at home for free!

Register at

<https://www.cacaponinstitute.org/teach/stream-scholars-summer-camp/>

Questions? Contact Connor Roessler

Watershed Education Specialist

sssc@cacaponinstitute.org, 304279-0105

